Product Identification

The product will remain unchanged in part number and function. However, units may be visually identified by the colour of the DEUTSCH DT series connector cap, which will now appear in black instead of grey. Mixed shipments of grey and black caps may occur during the transition phase.

Description and extent of change

TE Connectivity is changing the color of the plug and receptacle caps from grey to black across their DT connector series. This change:

- Does not affect form, fit, or function (FFF) of the product.
- Uses the same plastic injection tooling and material (PA66 GF15).
- Is intended to reduce carbon footprint through standardization.

No testing is required, and both versions are fully interchangeable in assembly and usage.

Certifications & Declaration of Conformity

This is a cosmetic-only change. All product certifications, IP ratings, and regulatory approvals remain unaffected. There is no impact on product safety, performance, or compliance documentation.

Customer Impact of Change

There is no impact on form, fit, or function. The only visible difference is the colour of the connector cap. The change is aesthetic and operationally neutral.

If your documentation, labelling, or visual inspections are sensitive to colour variation, please update your internal references accordingly.

Schedule of change

The change is effective as of July 2025. Products with grey and black caps may be shipped together during this transition.
